Who looks may leap
William Byrd

Cantus primus

Who looks may leape and save his shins from knocks, Who looks may leape and save his shins from knocks,

Who tries may trust, else flat-tring friends shall find, else flat-tring friends shall find, He saves the Steed, that keeps him under locks, that keeps him under locks, under locks, Who speaks with heed may boldly speake his mind, speake his mind, Who speaks with heed may boldly speake his mind, But he whose tongue before his wit doth runne, doth rune, Oft speaks too soone, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done.

But he whose tongue before his wit doth runne, Oft speaks too soone, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done.
Who looks may leap

Cantus secundus

Who looks may leap

and save his shins from knocks, and save his shins from knocks, from knocks. Who tries may trust, else flat-tring friends shall find, else flat-tring friends shall find, He saves the Steed, that keeps him under locks, that keeps him under locks, Who speaks with heed may boldly speake his mind, may boldly speake his mind, may boldly speake his mind, But he whose tongue before his wit doth runne, Oft speakes too soone, and grieves when he hath done, and

©2013 Serpent Publications 3 Printed on: September 11, 2013 grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done. But he whose tongue, But he whose tongue before his wit doth runne, doth run, Oft speaks too soone, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done.
Who looks may leap
William Byrd

Who lookes may leape and save his shins from knocks, and save his shins from knocks, from knocks, tries may trust, else flattering friends shall find, else flattering friends shall find, shall find, He saves the Steed, that keeps him under locks, that keeps him under locks, that keeps him under locks, Who speaks with heed may boldly speake his mind, speake his mind, may boldly speake his mind, speake his mind, may boldly speake, may boldly speake his mind, speake his mind, But he whose tongue before his wit doth

©2013 Serpent Publications Printed on: September 11, 2013 runne, be-fore his wit doth runne, Oft speaks too soone, Oft speaks too soone, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done, But he whose tongue be-fore his wit doth runne, be-fore his wit doth runne, Oft speakes too soone, Oft speaks too soone, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done,

Who looks may leap

Who lookes may leape and save his shins from knocks, Who lookes may leape and save his shins from save his shins from knocks, and save his shins from save his shins from knocks, Who tries may knocks, from knocks. Who tries may trust, knocks, from knocks, Who tries may trust, else trust, else flat-tring friends shall find, else else flat-tring friends shall find, else flat - flat-tring friends shall find, He saves the Steed, that that keepes him under locks, that keepes him under locks, that keepes him under locks, that keepes him under locks, that Under locks, Who speaks with heed may boldly him under locks, Who speaks with

keeps him under locks, Who speaks with heed may boldly

-ly speake his mind, speake his heed may boldly

speake his mind, speake his mind, may boldly speake his mind, Who speaks with heed may speake his mind, may boldly speake his mind, speake his mind, may boldly speake, may boldly bold - ly speake his mind, But mind, may bold - ly speake his mind, But he whose speake his mind, speake his mind, But he whose he whose tongue be - fore his wit doth runne, doth tongue be - fore his wit doth runne, be - fore his wit doth run, Oft speaks too soone, and grieves when he runne, Oft speaks too soone, and

©2013 Serpent Publications 10 Printed on: September 11, 2013
hath done, and grieves when he hath grieves when he hath done, and and grieves when he hath grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath
done, and grieves when he hath done.
But he whose tongue be-fore done. But he whose tongue, But he whose tongue be-done, But he whose tongue be-fore his wit doth his wit doth runne,

Often
tore his wit runne,

Oft doth runne,

Often speakes too soone,

Oft doth runne, doth run, Oft doth runne, and grieves when he hath done, hath done,

and grieves when he hath done,

and grieves when he hath done,

and grieves when he hath done,
done, and grieves when he hath done.

and grieves when he hath done,