

Cantus secundus

Who lookes may leape and save his shins from 8 knocks, and save his shins from knocks, from A 14 trust, else flat-tring friends shall find, else flat - tring friends shall find,
20 He saves the Steed, that keeps him un - der locks, that keeps
28 B
him un - der locks, Who speaks with heed may bold - ly speake his 36 C mind, may bold - ly speake his mind, may bold - ly speake his mind, But he whose 42
tongue be - fore his wit doth runne, Oft speakes too soone, and 50
grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath 56 D
done. But he whose tongue, But he whose tongue be - fore his wit doth 63
runne, doth run, Oft speakes too soone, and grieves when he hath done, 69
and grieves when he hath done, and grieves when he hath done.